The Hirschfeld Biograph closed on 8th February 1986 after 137 film presentations and 285 performances.

In the early hours of 4th of November 1987, a fire broke out at the Hirschfeld Centre. David Norris is firmly convinced it was deliberate. The centre never opened again.

Vito Russo (1946-1990): Vito was working at Gay News in the U.K. Just before the publication of his book 'The Celluloid Closet', I made contact and invited him to Dublin, to be my guest, and present his lecture at the Hirschfeld Biograph during Gay Pride Week 1980. It was a great success. The occasion was videotaped, and a search is on for a copy of that recording. Wikipedia states online, "between 1972 to 1982 Vito had been travelling around, delivering The Celluloid Closet as a live lecture presentation with film clips at colleges, universities, and small cinemas such as the Roxie Cinema in San Francisco and the Hirschfeld Biograph in Dublin".

Terence Davies (1945-2023): I invited Terrence to present his three short films "Children (1976), Madonna and Child (1980), and Death and Transfiguration (1983)" at the Hirschfeld Biograph on Monday 8th and Tuesday 9th October 1984, with presentations at 6.00p.m. and 8.00p.m. each evening. A Q&A was facilitated after the 8.00p.m. presentation on both nights. This was all achieved with the great assistance of the British Film Institute. This collection of short films has since become known as the 'Terence Davies Trilogy'. Dr. Patrick McDonagh gives this a special mention in his article "Remembering the Hirschfeld Biograph".
